

Spilling the beans

Ezekiel 4:9 Take thou also unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof, [according] to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon thy side, three hundred and ninety days shalt thou eat thereof.

Imagine Ezekiel lying on his side. Then think, 'what if he were disabled?' He would then have to lie on his side to avoid reflux. Of course that is the general idea. However his case, if he had it, might not have been as severe. I had a text and a book of case in hiatus hernia. One the size of a fist.

If that seems small consider it an adult fist. Then think of that is the bay of a pig. There it goes down into the bowel but can't find an exit. It goes to the body and can't find the stomach. Thus I gain in weight but not in success.

The body is meant to have a way of digesting food. If I am on the right path then I will have a means of doing so. Usually my body compacts the food and then casts it off all at one or two sittings. Of course that is gross but it is the way of life for a disabled person. In my case I don't sleep so much on just one side but avoid sleeping on my back. That is when I get reflux.

Now if I go into this I can tell you to spill the beans means to reveal a secret. So lets say today I think that if man is to build a beast and we are meant to bow down to it then lets imagine the beast speaks. Of course that would be a head speaking. Using advanced technology. The head would be on top of a two part building. A leg on the left and one on the right. Then it would be a chest. The chest would be apartments where people might live. Then would come shoulders where they would have a patch of green. Then the head. The head would look like a head. They would shape it domish. Then they would have a peaked hat perhaps like in the Robots wizard of Oz. It would be this type of style. Old and archaic. Then it would rise up and walk. Maybe. However the idea of a robot for a building is the concept of men.

Men take it to the point of blasphemy when they put in a transmitter and let anyone address the audience. It would be based on lies of life. So the mark of it would be men addressing each other. As in men riding down the slow peak of a channel. They would carry the blasphemy to the mark of the peak which would be in feet. Six hundred. Sixty. Six.
